I was a stumpy night, When Cassie spotted Mum and Dad playing cards with Mr and Mrs Honey. Be Be was tracking Cassie with eyes like huge floodlights. Cassie zoomed through the air with excitement on her face. She flew over the George Washington bridge, she thought it could be a huge sparkly, diamond necklace. Cassie flew through glimmering, ~~blink~~ blinking stars in the moonlight.

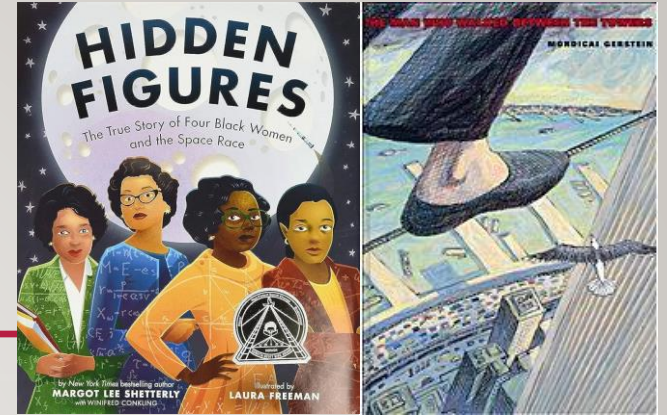

Through the ~~the~~ window, the sparkly, diamond bridge opened when Cassie was born, in 1931. Daddy helped to build the magical ~~large~~ bridge because he is a hardworking construction worker. Daddy is known as the cat! Daddy took Cassie to the new union building. He was feeling frustrated as he could not join the union, because Grandpa wasn't a member. Even Mummy is feeling annoyed. Cassie is curious as to why daddy can't join the union just because Granpa wasn't a member.

Cassie flew over the union building for Daddy. Mommy, daddy, Mr and Mrs Honey are playing cards and Mom is determined to win. Daddy owns the union because Cassie flew over it. Later that ~~day~~ ^{day}, Be Be begged Cassie to go with her flying.

The amazing Philippe Petit

Philippe Petit is a wonderful man who never gave up and accomplished many extraordinary things in his lifetime including learning how to tightrope walk perfectly across wire without falling once. He will be remembered for many years to come.

Early Life

Philippe Petit was born in Nemours in the year 1924. From the very start, he was a fearless individual. When he was just a little boy, already an unbelievable acrobat. But in class he would not sit still and was forever juggling pens, pencils and glue stick lids! When he was outside you could always find him trying girls skipping ropes to the tree so he could walk along them. After a while the teachers had had enough.

Achievements

had never seen something that extraordinary before and probably won't see anything more extraordinary exclaimed a PC-Police officer on duty that day. Philippe Petit completed many amazing achievements in his life before the twin towers. Like conquering the Notre-Dame and the Niagara Falls.

On the rope

In August 1974, at approximately just after midnight Philippe Petit and his crew started the climb of the colossal twin towers. This heroic feat had been planned for a long time and now the time had come to do this astonishing walk. A couple hours past and finally they had reached the top. Philippe picked up the wire and the bow-he shot the wire through the bow.... It missed! After a minute of two, Philippe decided he had to climb down and get the wire back up. Soon he made it back to the top. This time the wire made it to the other

The notebook page is decorated with a border of small green Statue of Liberty icons along the top and sides. At the bottom, there is a line drawing of a city skyline, including the Twin Towers. The text is written in cursive on lined paper.

Arctic foxes: Arctic foxes live on the land and sea ice within the Arctic Circle. Winter in the Arctic is unlike winter in most parts of the world. From October to February the sun never rises to shine warmth and light.

Luckily, these small foxes have some useful adaptations for living in the icy Arctic. Their thick fur coat keeps the foxes body at a toasty 104°F. Their long, fluffy tails act like a blanket, keeping the fox warm when it wraps the tail around its body to sleep.

Their feet also have a layer of thick fur, like built-in snow boots. This helps muffle an arctic fox's footsteps, making it harder for prey to hear them. And their white coats make it difficult for predators such as wolves, polar bears, and golden eagles to spot them among the ice and snow.

Dear mum and dad,

How are you? I miss you very much. I hope you're okay. We were so sad to leave you but me and Bella told Johnny it's going to be an adventure. Johnny was crying most the journey until he ate his lunch. I didn't have mine at that moment because I wasn't hungry. About half an hour later the person in front of us was sick. It was disgusting! Then Bella threw up almost on Johnny's toy car. The teacher cleaned up the table and Johnny was straight back to crying. He gave me and Bella a headache. When our headaches went we asked Johnny why he was sad. He said someone took his toy car. We told Mrs Bura about Johnny's toy car and we found out a boy took it! He got it back and he stopped crying. I ate my lunch slowly so I wouldn't get sick.

When we got off the train we all walked to the village hall. When we got there me, Bella and Johnny sat next to each other. It felt like we were there for hours. Eventually a woman came in and got me, Bella and Johnny! Johnny was so tired. We walked to our foster parents home and we all sat down.

There names were we were told that all them are Mrs and Mr and Johnson.
